

Abstract of the Disclosure

Protective natural rubber and synthetic elastomeric gloves are disclosed which have an inner skin-contacting absorbent layer. The inner layer is impregnated with skin care compositions. During application of the gloves, the inner layer absorbs perspiration
5 from the hand and readily and slowly releases skin care compositions to soothe and condition the hand. Methods of manufacture are described.